New Chapter, Re-birth of KAPAM

Chief of Staff and Head of Public Service Mr. Felix Koskei delivers his address at the KAPAM annual dinner that was held at Safari Park Hotel, Nairobi on May 29, 2024.

BY PAULINE NGURUKIE

Chief of Staff and Head of the Public Service, Mr. Felix Koskei, in his keynote address at the Kenya Association for Public Administration and Management (KAPAM) annual dinner acknowledged the role of professional associations in promoting high standards of professionalism and resilience in the public sector.

Themed "The Role of Professional Bodies in Building a Resilient and Competitive Public Service," the annual dinner was one of the strategies to revitalize and strengthen the Association to provide public service administrators and managers with a forum for engagement and development.

Mr. Koskei underlined the value of KAPAM in promoting high standards of expertise, particularly in light of the current global economic difficulties. He said that in order to lead Kenya toward sustainable development, KAPAM's actions are critical to creating a strong and competitive public sector.

He said that KAPAM has played a part in regulating and preserving the ideals of professionalism and principles of public service as outlined in

New Chapter, Re-birth of KAPAM

AAPAM Secretary General Prof. George Scott addresses attendees at the KAPAM dinner

Kenya's Constitution, Article 232. Addressing the subject of integrity, Mr. Koskei called upon public officials and managers to use their experience to battle the evil that is corruption. He called for collective will to carefully follow legal demands while maintaining the highest levels of proficiency.

The Chief of Staff did not leave out the youth; the Association must find it necessary to leverage on the demographic dividend of young people, who bring fresh viewpoints, energy, creativity, and innovation. "It is important to using a forward-thinking approach to develop practical and long-term solutions," he said.

Mr. Amos Gathecha, Principal Secretary State Department for Public Service, said that professional organizations such as KAPAM have an influence on society; these entities are more than just bureaucratic creations; they represent the heartbeat of progress, bringing together specialists, practitioners, and thought leaders who encourage social mobility and inclusivity, allowing people to advance regardless of their backgrounds.

According to the State Department boss KAPAM has the ability to connect professionals internationally to share insights and best practices at a global stage. The expansion of the Association will depend on initiatives of members and the leadership of KAPAM such as outreach campaigns, networking events, and partnering with other institutions.

Secretary General of the African Association for Public Administration and Management (AAPAM) Prof. George Scott addressed resilience within the African public service sector for effectiveness and efficiency in its operations. He acknowledged several challenges that have impacted public service performance, stressing the need for robust strategies to build public trust and deliver on commitments.

Commending KAPAM for its significant contributions in the area of public administration, Prof. Scott noted the contribution and participation of KAPAM in AAPAM's programs and activities such as the Leadership Program, Annual Round Table Conference, and publications. "These programs, aligned with the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs), facilitate interaction, knowledge exchange, and career development", he said.

Prof. Nura Mohamed, Acting Director General of the Kenya School of Government (KSG) spoke to the role of KAPAM in driving reforms within the country. It is important to strategically utilize KAPAM to drive the ethics and integrity agenda in the public sector. The Ag. DG also encouraged continuous learning and development to enhance performance in the execution of duty and the success of public sector reforms.

The outgoing Executive Secretary of KAPAM and former Director General of KSG, Prof. Ludeki Chweya, praised Kenya's outstanding public service performance in Africa since 2013. In a lengthy presentation, he stated that Kenya is one of the continent's top performers. The outgoing Executive Secretary expressed delight in KAPAM members' dedication and their commitment to sustain annual subscriptions. He went on to request each member to bring on 10 new members to help expand the Association. Currently, KAPAM has 810 members, including 41 corporate members.

Salaries and Remuneration Commissioner Dr. Leah Munyao, and a member of KAPAM stressed that in order to improve the performance of the Association, regular interacting of members is vital. According to her, every member must strive for higher goals in an effort to take the Kenyan Chapter to new levels.

PS for Performance and Delivery Management Ms. Veronica Nduva, Commissioners, Senior Government officials, KSG Council and staff, course participants, KAPAM members, University and college students were among other attendees at the dinner.

About KAPAM

The Kenya Association for Public Administration and Management (KAPAM) was established in 2007 as a chapter of the African Association for Public Administration and Management to provide networking and continuous learning opportunities for public administrators and managers. KAPAM provides public officers with a platform for continuous professional development, networking and sharing knowledge and expertise. Membership is open to individuals, students, corporations, and honorary members and provides benefits like regional and continental networking and access to publications.

LPNT: A Time of Reflection

BY FAITH MUSOGA AND
BRIAN MBUGUA

The Kenya School of Government (KSG) through the support of European Union Commission in Brussels under the support instrument known as Technical Assistance and Exchange Instrument (TAIEX), organized an expert mission with an aim to review KSG's Leadership Program for National Transformation (LPNT) in Lower Kabete on May 27-30, 2024.

During his visit to the reflection session, the Principal Secretary State Department for Public Service, Mr. Amos Gathecha expressed his appreciation to the cooperation of partners, the School, the participants and Government towards the realization of the Leadership Program for National Transformation. Offering a brief history of the program Mr. Gathecha explained that the result is to have a crop of leaders that serves for the future rather than the moment.

PS State Department for Public Service Mr. Amos Gathecha, KSG Ag. DG Prof. Nura Mohamed, with EU Expert Mr. Jerome Guyon, French Embassy Representative Ms. Stella Chene and KSG management and faculty at the program review at Lower Kabete.

For the PS, it is a point of joy to have high level participation in this program; it serves as a firm stamp of legitimacy. "For the next cohort, I can confirm enrollment of two Principal Secretaries who are interested in delving deeper in the issues and understanding of Government. "Leadership is critical in a society, without good leadership we are lost. We need leadership that is dynamic and mindful of people's welfare," he said.

The overall objective of the expert mission was to review the coordination, methodology and content of the LPNT and draw on the experience of European Union institutions namely; Institute of Public Administration (IPA), National Institute of Public Service (INSP), and National Centre for Local Civil Service (CNFPT).

KSG Ag. Director General, Prof. Nura Mohamed noted that the review of the program should be informative, objective and value adding with the goal of improvement, making it better for the following cohorts and for the overall good of the Public Service leadership. "Out of this reflection, should come the best solutions for the best program in all aspects," said Prof. Mohamed.

The setting provided a platform to share best practices and discourse on viable andragogical approaches to empower the public service. The EU experts provided an overview of their institutions providing areas to compare with the Kenyan public administration scene.

Ms. Teresa Casserly of the Institute of Public Administration, is hopeful that from the reflection, the team will get to answer the question; what does great leadership look like? She has agreed that there is no perfect system but there are strategies that can be utilized to make progress in our systems of governance. One of these is through the development competence approach being carried out by KSG and TAIEX.

The Leadership Program for National Transformation lasts seven weeks, with short breaks. It covers essential themes in the field with emphasis on the imperative of commitment to national transformation as core national interest, selection of policy and strategy options for national wealth creation and enhancement of global competitiveness.

The Program is intended to enhance competency requirements for transforming a developing nation into an industrialized and prosperous society with high standards of living for citizens. Participants would comprise senior officials from across all arms, agencies and levels of government for development.

Some of the successes of the Program are recorded as having a fruitful and beneficial pre-program workshop that was helpful at seeing the big picture and defining all the important details. Participants appreciated the content and knowledgeable facilitators that were carefully selected with a combination of scholarly knowledge and practical senior level public sector experience. The incorporation of the field visits formed a memorable part of the training that shows how to meet the demands of the locals and increase in capacity to meet the needs of international markets. Generally, the participants could attest to the relevance of the program to the current situation in the country.

As with many projects and programs, there are always areas of consideration. In this case, there was the duration and hours of training that should accommodate very senior cadres of officers to participate fully and not lose out due to exigencies of duty. Delivery of the content would incorporate the hybrid format in order to include online participants at their convenience. The School also committed to more case studies that included international perspectives in the program. This being the first cohort, subsequent ones look promising in terms of participation of international attendees and introduction of panel discussions.

According to Mr. Jerome

Guyon, EU Expert, what the partners and the School have achieved is exciting. "It has been an exciting piece of work to generate a Capability Framework that covers all the critical points of improvement for this program. The road map is ambitious but with a committed group and the amount of expertise that has been displayed, it is achievable," he said.

Ms. Stella Chene, the French Embassy Representative confirmed that France is in support of the Leadership Program. "France commits to collaborate with Kenya in terms of development none of which matters without a functioning and robust public administration and highly trained civil servants. The Embassy will continue to observe the program and support that which KSG has put forward in terms of partnerships and collaboration," said Ms. Chene.

The Evaluation of the Leadership Program for National Transformation was organized in co-operation with Kenya School of Government and the European

KNHRC - KSG Sign Understanding for Human Rights Awareness

KSG Ag. Director General Prof. Nura Mohamed and Kenya National Human Resource Commission (KNHRC) CEO Dr. Bernard Mogesa, with staff from KSG and KNHRC at the MOU signing at the School in Lower Kabete.

BY ADEN OKELLO

In a significant step towards improving human rights at the grassroots level, the Kenya School of Government (KSG) and the Kenya National Human Rights Commission (KNHRC) have signed a Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) aimed at fostering collaboration in the enhancement and implementation of human rights education and practices.

The signing ceremony, held on May 29, 2024 at KSG Lower Kabete, marks a new period of partnership between these two pivotal institutions. The MOU is designed to provide a structured framework for mutual cooperation in promoting a deeper understanding and adherence to human rights across the public service sector.

In his remarks at the ceremony, Prof. Nura Mohamed, Acting Director General of KSG, emphasized the importance of this collaboration. "This memorandum will enhance the understanding of human rights, promote the development of a culture of understanding human rights, and institutionalize the same in the public service. It aligns with our mandate of capacity building and that of KNHRC and will help us achieve our national agenda, particularly the Bottom-Up Economic Transformation Agenda," he said.

Prof. Mohamed highlighted KSG's growing scope not only within Kenya but also across Africa. He expressed confidence that this MOU would form a significant part of KSG's and KNHRC's legacies, saying that it is necessary of effective implementation and tangible impact.

Dr. Bernard Mogesa, CEO of KNHRC, echoed these sentiments, noting the long-standing collaborative efforts between KNHRC and KSG. "There is need for more education and sensitization on matters of human rights. The Commission works with both national and international institutions, and is delighted to formalize this collaboration with KSG. We are committed to working together to advance our shared goals," Dr. Mogesa stated.

The objective of the MOU is to empower the public service by enhancing understanding and respect for human rights through comprehensive education and training, law and policy research, technical assistance, policy advisory, and public engagement and outreach initiatives.

The clarion call for the planned period remains: "Human Rights for all, at all times - Haki kwa wote, kila wakati," reflecting the ongoing commitment to ensuring fundamental human rights and freedoms are upheld and experienced by all individuals at the grassroots level.

This partnership between KSG and KNHRC represents a significant milestone in Kenya's journey towards a more informed and rights-respecting public service, setting a precedent for future collaborations aimed at fostering a culture of human rights in the region.

Established through the KNCHR Act of Parliament, Article 59 of Constitution of Kenya, the Kenya National Commission on Human Rights is an independent National Human Rights Institution created as the state's lead agency in the promotion and protection of human rights. One of the goals of the Commission is to enhance awareness and empower the public on human rights and obligations, creating a fit partnership with the School in this MoU.

KSG was also established as a State Corporation under the KSG Act No. 9 of 2012. It is a Vision 2030 flagship project that supports Government in the realization of national agenda through capacity development. KSG programs are problem-solving interventions that help to cope with present and emerging organizational and performance challenges and to improve the quality of services that are offered to citizens.

MKI, Beyond Zero commemorate Day of Menstrual Health

MKI, Beyond Zero and partners at Chepnai Primary School in Sook Ward during the International Day of Menstrual Health celebrations

BY VIVIANNE NGUGI

International Day of Menstrual Health is celebrated annually on 28th day of May. The theme of this year's Menstrual Hygiene Day "Together for a #PeriodFriendlyWorld" called for a collective effort to promote hygiene, and fight the stigma and taboo around menstruation.

The goal for this year's celebration was to localize the theme to address challenges that affect girls and the actions Kenya needs to make towards a #periodfriendlyKenya. Ministry of Health advocacy key messages included the challenges women and girls face due to limited access to information about menstruation, lack of access due to affordability, poor sanitation facilities for good menstrual health and hygiene, and need for proper disposal of sanitary towels.

Kenya School of Government Margaret Kenyatta Institute for Gender and Social Development joined Beyond Zero in celebrating the day by participating in a community outreach coordinated by the County Health and Education Ministries in Sook Ward, West Pokot County. Together with County Pads for Africa, UNICEF, Equity Afya, and Impact Generation Africa they donated dignity packs for girls.

The colorful event hosted at the Chepnai Primary School in Sook Ward was attended by the Governor's Spouse- Scovia Chebet Kachapin, county leadership, student's girls and boys from surrounding schools.

The United Nations Population Fund (UNFPA) has identified menstrual health as a human rights issue stating "Poor menstrual health and hygiene undercut fundamental rights for women, girls and people who menstruate, worsening social and economic inequalities. Insufficient resources to manage menstruation, as well as patterns of exclusion and shame, undermine human dignity. Gender inequality, extreme poverty and harmful traditions can amplify deprivation and stigma." This underscores the need to break down barriers, advocate for protection and inclusion for all women and girls, especially from marginalized and vulnerable communities.

MKI's mandate under gender and social development is to advance gender equality, social justice, and societal transformation. The Institute's participation in the community outreach resonated with its work on gender, which seeks to bring transformative change to society, by focusing on emerging issues in gender and social development through training, capacity building and advocacy. The conversations focused on enhancing advocacy in educating girls on menstrual hygiene, dispelling myths and reducing stigma, as well as addressing teenage pregnancies.

Appreciating the participation of partners including Beyond Zero and MKI, the County First Lady, Scovia Chebet Kachapin, encouraged girls to emulate the determination of women leaders currently serving in the County. She congratulated efforts that support and mentor girls for leadership that will result in more women occupying leadership positions. She said it will be possible if more girls remain in school, avoid teenage pregnancy, and are given a chance to pursue education opportunities consistently.

A collective consensus was made to empower girls with knowledge, support initiatives that foster self-care and hygiene, and together for #periodfriendlyKenya!

KSG and Kenya Red Cross Unite to Support Vulnerable Communities

KSG Mombasa Campus staff in partnership with Red Cross Mombasa Branch donated food and non-food items to aid the vulnerable members of the community

BY GLENN LUMITI

Early this year, 2024, Kenya was struck by persistent and heavy rainfall that caused widespread flooding across the country. The deluge led to the destruction of property, loss of livelihoods, and displacement of countless families, leaving many communities grappling with the aftermath. Amid this crisis, the Kenya School of Government (KSG) community rallied together to extend a helping hand to those in dire need within the vicinity of their campuses.

At the forefront of these efforts was the KSG Mombasa Campus, where the Events Management Committee was tasked with spearheading the initiative to provide much-needed relief to the flood victims. The Committee's mandate included mobilizing staff and participants to engage in activities aimed at supporting those affected and collecting food and non-food items for distribution.

An initial assessment by the Committee, however, revealed that Mombasa had not experienced the severe rainfall and consequent flooding that plagued other parts of the country. Recognizing the relative safety of Mombasa residents from the immediate effects of the flooding, the Committee decided to redirect their efforts towards supporting other vulnerable members of the community. This led to a strategic partnership with the Kenya Red Cross Mombasa Branch, focusing on aiding children from special schools and senior citizens residing in almshouses.

The collaboration culminated in a significant event on May 26, 2024, at the Aga Khan Academy in Mombasa. A grand luncheon was organized for the vulnerable children and senior citizens, an event that aimed to bring joy and comfort to 2000 individuals. The occasion was marked by the presentation of a cheque for Kshs. 20,000 from the KSG Mombasa Campus to the Kenya Red Cross, alongside donations of food and non-food items generously contributed by the campus staff and course participants.

The event illustrated community solidarity and the spirit of giving. The luncheon not only provided immediate relief but also fostered a sense of belonging and support among the attendees. For many, it was a brief respite from the challenges they face daily, offering them hope and encouragement to persevere.

Dr. Rukia Atikiya, the Ag. Director, KSG Mombasa Campus, expressed her gratitude to everyone involved in the initiative. "The overwhelming support from our staff and participants has been heartwarming. It is a testament to the power of community and the impact we can have when we come together for a common cause," she remarked.

The Kenya Red Cross Mombasa County Coordinator Ms. Aisha Al Hussein also lauded the partnership with KSG Mombasa. She highlighted the importance of such collaborations in amplifying the reach and effectiveness of their humanitarian efforts. "Working with institutions like KSG enables us to extend our support to more people in need. The generosity displayed by the KSG community has been incredible, and we are immensely grateful," she said.

For the children and senior citizens who attended the luncheon, the event was a day of joy and celebration. The Aga Khan Academy was transformed into a haven of laughter and camaraderie, with activities and entertainment tailored to delight the attendees. Volunteers from both KSG and the Red Cross ensured that everyone felt welcome and cared for, serving meals with smiles and engaging in conversations that brightened the day for many.

Staff Wellness Committee Mombasa Campus Chairperson Mr. Dennis Oyaro and KSG faculty member Dr. Anthony Kamakia participate in collection of donations at the Campus

Looking ahead, KSG Mombasa Campus plans to continue its partnership with the Kenya Red Cross and other organizations to support those in need. The Events Management Committee is already brainstorming future initiatives, including support for children from underprivileged backgrounds and healthcare drives for the elderly.

As Kenya continues to recover from the devastating floods, the actions of the KSG serve as a beacon of hope and a reminder of the strength found in unity. Their efforts exemplify how local institutions can play a pivotal role in disaster response and community support, bringing together resources and goodwill to make a meaningful difference.

Weekly Activities Across KSG

Deputy Minister for Economic Management at the Ministry of Finance and Development Planning of the Republic of Liberia, Hon. Dehpur Y. Zuo, presided over the closing ceremony of a training program on Medium Term Expenditure Framework (MTF) Planning and Budgeting. The program that was conducted at the Kenya School of Government in Lower Kabete was attended by participants from the Republic of Liberia. Hon. Zuo was welcomed at the School by Dr. Josephine Mwanzia, KSG Director of Academic Affairs, on behalf of Ag. Director General, Prof. Nura Mohamed.

The MTF program aims to be an important tool for integrating planning, budgeting, and performance assessment. Hon. Zuo expressed confidence that this essential tool will be effective for the implementation of public health initiatives by governments. The design and delivery of the program would enhance public sector efficiency in Liberia. Management of public funds is the right of every citizen. I believe what you have learned here will be reflected in your service delivery," he remarked.

Dr. Mwanzia emphasized to the participants that public service is a trust bestowed upon them by the citizens, which necessitates exceeding expectations for the benefit of the Liberian people. "Do not let what you have learned remain as mere head knowledge. Apply it with intentionality, so that the people of Liberia can reap the benefits of their investment in you," she encouraged.

Kenya School of Government is this week conducted a week-long Induction Program for staff from State Department of Public Works.

Principal Secretary State Department for Public Works Mr. Joel Arumonyang' officiated the opening ceremony in Lower Kabete in an event attended by KSG Ag. Director General Prof. Nura Mohamed, Senior officials from the State Department and the course participants.

In his address, PS Arumonyang' reminded the attendees that they are players in the transformational agenda of Government and therefore they ought to conduct themselves with decorum and integrity.

Prof. Mohamed encouraged the participants that they have what it takes to work in the Department with utmost confidence. He noted that this kind of attitude will result in high productivity, which in turn impacts the country as a whole.

The training ended on Friday May 31, 2024.

Weekly Activities Across KSG

The National Defence College India (NDC) through KSG's Security Management Institute (SMI) conducted a study visit at the School in Lower Kabete. The delegation, led by Air Marshal Hardeep Bains, Commandant of the Indian National Defence College, comprised military officers from Nepal, India, Tanzania, Kenya, and Zambia and were received by KSG Ag. Director General Prof. Nura Mohamed and SMI Director Mr. Humphrey Mokaya.

KSG Ag. DG Prof. Nura Mohamed and Director National Counter Terrorism Center Dr. Rosalind Nyawira signed an MOU establishing a strategic partnership to enhance training and capacity building for public officers in the prevention and countering extremism thus supporting the government's broader security agenda.

Assistant Inspector General of Police, and Director Human Capital Management- Administration Police Service Mr. David Lumwatu was the chief guest at the closing ceremony of the Kenya Border Security Control Program Management Program. His advice to the 4th Cohort was about commitment and balancing their work with life's obstacles.

Security Management Institute (SMI) Director Mr. Humphrey Mokaya expressed his admiration for the team that showed diligence during the training. He urged them to use their newfound knowledge to make Kenya safer than it is. The training is designed to improve participants' abilities in negotiation, communication, and alertness for border security.
